WalletHub ranks ICC 25 in best community colleges

DANNY MCARTHUR
Northeast Mississippi Daily Journal

In a study that surveyed hundreds of community colleges across the U.S., Itawamba Community College ranked 25 in best community colleges, according to a recent study from financial website WalletHub.

The 2019's Best & Worst Community Colleges list was released Monday (Aug. 19) and looked at 710 community colleges which are part of the American Association of Community Colleges. According to the website of the American Association of Community Colleges, more than 1,200 institutions representing more than 12 million students are a part, and WalletHub acknowledged that they chose to look at a sample size rather than all member schools due to data limitations.

WalletHub focused on community colleges because of their affordability.

"Community colleges offer students the ability to get higher education without having as much financial strain. During the 2018 to 2019 academic year, tuition and fees for full-time, in-state enrollment at a public two-year college averaged #3,600 per year versus $10,320 at a public four-year institution and $35,830 at a four-year private school." - See WalletHub, page thirteen.

Be eager to learn

About a month ago, I enrolled my puppy in behavior classes.

I had spent the entire month prepping him for his class. We went on trips to the Bark Park in Tupelo so he could socialize with other dogs. I took him to work with me so he could get used to other people. I even taught him how to sit and walk on a leash before our first class so I would feel more in control of the situation.

After our solid month of preparation, the big day finally came. I eagerly walked my puppy through the doors of the local PetSmart, and we made our way to the training classroom; however, I was terrified that my sweet darling would be way too rambunctious to focus on actually learning anything.

Our trainer reassured me that she deals with "A.D.D." dogs all the time, and that he would be just fine. As the class progressed, I was blown away with how my puppy was handling everything. He was focused. He was social. He was excited.

Most importantly, he was learning everything swiftly. At the end of the class, the trainer came up to me and my puppy and told me that she was very impressed with his behavior. I was so impressed that he had learned much more quickly than his fellow classmates.

I enrolled my puppy in behavior classes so that he would learn how to behave appropriately, but in turn, I learned something aswell. One's attitude going into a situation has a significant impact on the outcome of a situation. I had entered the PetSmart classroom with a weary foot - determined that my pet was going to fail.

The beautiful thing is that my puppy walked into the classroom eager to learn, which was mostly because of the scrumptious treats he received.

The trainer walked in...eager to teach. As students, sometimes we face a difficult course such as chemistry, physics or calculus. I, of all people, would be one of the first ones to decide I was failing one of these courses.

Once we make the decision to tail, we have already affected our outcome.

Keep your heads high and your attention focused, and the rest will fall into place.

At ICC, we have wonderful instructors who are eager to teach, much like my wonderful puppy trainer.

In other words, don't count your puppy out on behavior classes just yet...he just might surprise you!!

Flashback to 1987

Homecoming means memories

For years when I heard the word "homecoming," I immediately thought of a football game, the queen and her court and a bigger-than-usual pep rally. To me, those seemed to be the only major differences.

As an Itawamba High School graduate, I learned the true definition of the word on October 9.

Even though our high school is right across the road, not all of our graduates just moved up to ICC this fall. Some of my bravest, dearest friends transferred directly to a university to battle a larger crowd and a bigger campus.

Most of them and other past graduates of IAHS came to the 1987 homecoming game. I saw friends that I had not even been in touch with since graduation. The months seemed like years when I saw their faces at the game. I felt rather sad because I missed them, yet I was terribly happy to see them all again. It was like a large class reunion for all of the graduating classes.

Homecoming provides alumni with an opportunity to remember old times and friends, and it also gives people a chance to measure the progress of the institution. Since I am not yet a graduate of ICC, I could better identify with this when I attended ICC's homecoming a week earlier. You don't have to be a graduate to notice how much our college has grown.

All you have to do is pick up a newspaper and see what the board of trustees is doing, read from the new ICC catalog or look through old yearbooks. This college has a very active history anda very progressive future. J.S. Crubaugh, the second president of ICC, once told me that there hasn't been a year that has passed since the college opened that something wasn't built. ICC is still expanding with the formation of fairly new programs such as the furniture manufacturing program on the Tupelo Campus. The college will also have a brand new football stadium in the near future.

Even the name has changed as proof of the growth of ICC.

So, in a couple of years, we'll have the memories of friends and events, and we'll be able to say, "I was there when they changed the name." ICC will add lots of memories for us to share when we attend our homecoming - Linda Zettler, Chieftain Editor, 1987 - This is the first in a series of flashback columns.

It is a rewarding career, and my students become a part of my daily life for the year that they are in the program. We acquire much more knowledge than the curriculum states in the program. We also learn about how different personalities and how to embrace those differences to have a successful academic year."

POSITIVES OF TEACHING: "To assist others to be successful to better their life and to be able to provide for themselves and/or their family.

NEGATIVES: "I cannot think of one negative that I experience in teaching. I have gained so much from all of the classes that I have been blessed to instruct."

ICC's President Allen reflects, looks to the future

KATHERINE MORGAN
Staff Writer

Dr. Jay Allen is in his third year as president of Itawamba Community College and has already made a lot of progress. His primary goal since coming to ICC has been to constantly strive to "get a little bit better each and every day."

In a recent interview with ICC's President, he discussed his progress at ICC thus far. The ICC Fulton Campus has been able to expand the Student Activities Center to include a new ping pong table, pool table, a few TVs, and hopefully soon, new improvements to the HVAC system, he said.

Improvements

The Tupelo Campus will soon be opening its new Academic and Student Center, which encompasses Allen's goal of constant improvement. It will include classrooms, faculty offices, a large computer lab, student services, a cafeteria and a new bookstore with The Grounds. "We get an opportunity to repurpose all of the existing spaces on campus that will be free...so that allows us to really think outside of where we've been, possibly creating a new fitness center there, moving the library and creating an academic support center," Allen said.

At the Belden Center, there is hope in the air for a new program to be added by a grant from the state for new equipment for a Robotics and Engineering program, Allen said.

Community Partnerships

As well, new enhancements are taking place in the community with partnerships with Tupelo High School on the new Middle College, an opportunity now open to other schools as well. Allen mentioned that, "We have 11 students in the program now which is a great start, and we can see where that goes." Middle College is a program that allows students to graduate with a diploma and an associate's degree at the same time."

"Volleyball starts fall of 2020 with Priscilla Morgan starting as head coach this past August, scouting and recruiting this year," Allen said.

Among new additions, the Archery Club will be headed by Michael Nanney.

Accomplishments

ICC thus far has been able to accomplish a lot since Allen has become president. "This summer a report from the Institutions of Higher Learning stated that ICC transfer students produce more graduates from the eight universities in Mississippi than any other community college in the state." ICC as well had the highest graduation rate at the college this past year and had the second highest grade point average among all transfer completers at universities with a 3.26. Allen stated, "Not only are you able to get a great education with academic integrity but at a great price point with tuition guarantee many times."

Family

Allen's family is extremely important to him. Although he has a busy schedule, which doesn't stop at 4:30 or even 5 p.m., involving them is significant. "My job takes me away from the family a good bit, but the great thing is there are a lot of things they can come and do with me." Allen, wife Belinda and two daughters, Emma Grace and Mollianne, assisted with move-in day, Aug. 11. "The challenging part is my daughters' school events and trying to balance supporting them as well as keeping them a part of the events here."

Activities

Allen enjoys all of the activities he has the opportunity in which to be involved with the students. "Day to day in the office, all of the meetings I go to, that is not always the fun stuff. Getting involved with the students and helping them be successful reminds me of why we do what we do." He enjoys hosting student leader and Indian Delegation dinners at his home.

"I hope our students will join us for all of our sports activities and performances to get engaged. The more students get involved on campus, the more successful they will be."

BancorpSouth donates $3,000 to ICC high school equivalency program to help students reach full potential

Chieftain Reports

BancorpSouth Bank (NYSE: BXS) is committed to its communities.

The bank recently donated $3,000 to Itawamba Community College's high school equivalency program.

The Adult Education/Basic Skills program, formerly known as the GED program, enables students - ages 16 and older - to complete a high school equivalency diploma through classes offered in the College's five-county district, which includes Chickasaw, Itawamba, Lee, Monroe and Pontotoc counties.

"We are grateful for this significant donation from BancorpSouth," said ICC President Dr. Jay Allen. "None of the work we do would be possible without the generous support of individuals and companies, like BancorpSouth, that believe in the mission of Itawamba Community College and our communities as a whole."

ICC received the donation from BancorpSouth, Aug. 20, when Allen was invited to speak to community leaders about the College's work with students enrolled in the Adult Education/Basic Skills program. Last year, ICC served more than 800 individuals, including 30 in Itawamba County, through the program.

"ICC is providing students with a second chance at receiving a high school equivalency diploma and is helping them reach their full potential," said BancorpSouth President - Northeast Mississippi Division and ICC alumnus Mark Burleson. ""We're proud to support the tremendous efforts that the college is making."

As part of the Adult Education/Basic Skills program, ICC offers English as a Second Language classes to help non-native English speakers build and improve their reading, speaking, listening and writing skills, as well as United States citizenship skills, which may be included.

Current adult education scholarship opportunities include Mi-Best and 2nd Chance Mississippi, Allen said. "Mi-Best is an innovative training program dedicated to preparing individuals who need help with foundational skills for careers by mixing career training with additional support for math, writing and reading inside the classroom. ICC offers Mi-Best pathway opportunities in certified nursing assistant, welding and cutting technology and heating, ventilation and air conditioning. A local organization, 2nd Chance Mississippi, is dedicated to raising funds and awareness for adult education and work skills training. It is currently sponsoring an opportunity for raising funds and awareness for adult education and work skills training.

Jake Hartfield discusses 2019-20 activities to include all college locations

LINDSEY ROBERTS
Staff Writer

Question 1: What activities do you have planned for the year?

Jake Hartfield: "Sept. 24 and 25, we have a blood drive contest against Northeast since it is our rival. Sept. 30-Oct. 3 is homecoming week, and Sept. 30 is also sign up day for intramural kickball, and the tournaments are Oct. 16 and 17. Halloween week is Oct. 28-31, and the transfer fair will be Nov. 4 at Fulton and Nov. 6 for Belden/Tupelo students. Sign up dates for intramural dodgeball are Nov. 1-8, and the tournaments are Nov. 12-13."

Question 2: How can students get involved in helping you put together the events?

Jake Hartfield: "We already have a student staff team that helps with the events, but students are welcome to volunteer if they would like to help."

Question 3: Are students who go to the Tupelo Campus and Belden Center welcome to come to the events that happen at the Fulton Campus?

Jake Hartfield: "Yes. Even though we house events such as the intramural sports and The Voice here at Fulton, we encourage all students to come and participate or support others. If we have an event at the Belden Center or Tupelo Campus, we encourage students to come to those events as well."

Coordinator of Student Activities Jake Hartfield encourages student involvement at Itawamba Community College.

Question 4: ""What activities do you think have been the most successful and least successful?"

Jake Hartfield: "Given from last year, the most successful would be our annual events such as Indian Week, homecoming week and welcome week. Intramural sports were highly attended last year, so I'm hoping that this year is the same. Least successful would be our pop-up events which depend on the schedule for that week. I would love to see more participation in the Tupelo events, so if there are any students that have ideas or better times according to their schedules, they can reach out to me and I would love to hear their ideas.

Question 5: Are there any activities that involve students, faculty and staff?

Jake Hartfield: "We encourage staff to get involved with the sports. They can create their own team, or they can play with students. We encourage all faculty and staff to come to all the events to watch and support students. If any faculty or staff have any ideas, they can email me, and we can talk about their idea.

Editor's note: Itawamba Community College Director of Student Activities took a few minutes to talk about the 2019 fall student activities.

SGA ready for big year

BROOKLYNN HALL
Staff Writer

Local and state elections and the upcoming presidential elections have been in the news in recent weeks.

So have most of the politicians' points of view and plans. However, there are elections and plans much closer to ICC. The Student Government Association election was last week, and activities have already started.

The SGA is a group of student leaders who are elected by ICC's student body every year. For some, it is an opportunity to enhance one's leadership skills, and for others, it's a chance to help and serve those around them. According to Student Activities director Jake Hartfield, "Whether you're a faculty member, staff member of even a student, we're here to serve other students. Really, change can happen when students bring their voice forward."

Each student government member uses his/her office to impact ICC to the best of his or her ability. "I believe the purpose of the SGA is to give students at ICC the opportunity to grow as leaders and represent the student body," said Tupelo Campus SGA President Nami Ikawa. Fulton Campus SGA President Jaymes Harris agrees, "Our primary purpose at ICC is to be a voice for the students."

The Student Government Association helps with many events throughout the year, such as ICC's The Voice, Indians Got Talent, Homecoming week, Indian Week and more. The SGA hosts these events so that students have a way to connect with others and stay involved in activities on campus throughout their college experience.

An upcoming event is ICC The Voice, which is a three-week singing competition that is hosted by the SGA. The auditions were Sept. 9-11. The three performance nights for those who continue are Sept. 17, 24 and Oct. 1, at 7 p.m. in the W.O. Benjamin Fine Arts Center auditorium at the Fulton Campus. A $100 prize and a trophy will be given to the winner.

"My favorite part of SGA is just getting to interact with the student leaders," Hartfield said. "We work a lot of long hours preparing for all of these events, and it's just great to see them grow within their position and just to give back to the ICC community."

Students in an ICC computer lab learn the skills necessary for careers in technology as well as to enable them to succeed in a university-transfer area. (File photo)

ICC ranked no. 2 among state's community college computer programs

Special to the Chieftain

Itawamba Community College earned the no. 2 spot in the ranking of the Best Colleges for Computer Science and IT in Mississippi, according to ComputerTrainingSchools.com, a reliable resource for those considering enrolling in a technology-focused degree program.

ICC secured this placement due to its higher-than-average scores in multiple categories within the study, including the number of tech-related programs, the retention of full-time students and the percentage of undergraduates who were awarded financial aid.

According to the managing editor of QuinStreet, Marcelle White, "ComputerTrainingSchools.com's study of institutions that offer technology-related degree programs is designed to highlight schools that do an exceptional job of helping students advance their education, whether students use their degree to start along a specific career path, change careers or as a stepping stone toward a bachelor's degree. According to a report published by Georgetown University's Center on Education and the Workforce, by 2020 in Mississippi, more than 60 percent of jobs are likely to require some level of postsecondary education, and schools like Itawamba Community College are doing a great job of helping students be prepared for that future."

ComputerTrainingSchools.com also informs Mississippi students about state initiatives in place to prepare more students for careers in technology, how to find potential scholarships to help fund their education and what professional resources are available to tech workers in Mississippi.

Data for ComputerTrainingSchools.com's study was sourced from the National Center for Education Statistics' Integrated Postsecondary Education Data System (IPEDS).

Rankings include in order, Mississippi Gulf Coast, Itawamba, Hinds, Copiah-Lincoln, Holmes, Northwest, Jones, Southwest Mississippi and Meridian.

ComputerTrainingSchools.com is the go-to resource for students and prospective students who want to pursue careers in IT, computer science and technology.

ICC needs student feedback on instruction, services via email surveys soon

Staff Reports

ICC's administration needs the assistance of all students in reviewing instruction and supportive services.

Students may provide their opinions through the fall semester's Student Evaluation of Instruction, according to Diann Nichols, assessment coordinator in the office of Strategic Planning and Institutional Effectiveness. Each student will receive these surveys throughout the semester based on term dates. Students will receive an email survey for each class (traditional, online and hybrid) in which they are enrolled. SEIs will also populate inside each course in Canvas so that students may choose to take the SEI via the email invitation or Canvas link based on personal preference for each class.

All student survey responses remain anonymous, and instructors do not receive the SEI results until after submitting final grades at the end of each semester. ICC's administration may review all comments made in the SEIs.

Student services surveys for admissions, financial aid, campus police, student activities and student housing will be sent with a separate link for each survey to student email addresses and be available at staggered times through Oct. and Nov.

Because student opinions are very important to improving the services and instruction that ICC provides, the administration encourages each student to complete all surveys, Nichols said.

Students will receive the student services surveys through their ICC email addresses.

Upsilon Sigma chapter of Phi Theta Kappa officers attend the PTK Fall Leadership Conference in Natchez, Sept. 6-7.

Phi Theta Kappa offers opportunities to ICC honor students

HANNAH SCOTT
Staff Writer

Invitations are being sent soon for membership into Phi Theta Kappa, the prestigious international academic honor society of the two-year college.

"PTK is the first stepping stone to a better, brighter future and a better life," said ICC Fulton Campus PTK contact adviser Robin Lowe. "I like to see what it does for students and how PTK makes a difference. We try to foster a sense of family, scholarship and community, and the move involved you are, the more it will do for you. PTK is success!"

PTK stands on four hallmarks: scholarship, service, fellowship and leadership.

Becoming a member of Phi Theta Kappa is extremely beneficial for community college students, Lowe said. To receive an invitation to PTK, community college students must meet a few requirements. A student must have completed a minimum of 12 hours and have a 3.5 cumulative GPA to be included. Once the requirements have been met, the student will receive an invitation via email, and will be allowed to choose a chapter through myTribe. To maintain membership, a student will be required to maintain a 3.3 GPA. This year, eight Golden Opportunity Scholarships will be given to incoming PTK members who are Pell eligible, Lowe said.

Phi Theta Kappa offers community college students the opportunity to enhance their leadership abilities and service skills while also earning hundreds, if not thousands, of dollars in scholarship money. Students who plan to transfer to certain universities can earn a minimum of $8,000 in scholarships just for being a member. In addition, students who obtain officer positions or enroll in Honors classes typically earn additional scholarships. TJ McIntosh of Wren and Anna Pounds of Golden were both recipients of the Coca-Cola Leaders of Promise scholarship. Katherine Morgan of Amory was awarded the Dowell Leadership scholarship for scoring the highest on the PTK application out of all other Mississippi students. Morgan, who is the Mississippi/Louisiana Regional Reporter, was asked how she balanced PTK, school work and other extracurriculars.

Building Bridges: Establishing Connections to the Future was the theme for the 2019 conference.

"Balancing my PTK responsibilities, school work and other extracurriculars is all about time management," Morgan said. "I keep a strict schedule that has everything planned out as well as I try not to procrastinate any of my school work. Also knowing my personality and learning types is a huge bonus in keeping my life balanced."

There are so many opportunities for involvement with Phi Theta Kappa. Community college students can become international officers, regional officers and chapter officers. Upsilon Sigma chapter president Kalyn Johnson was asked what influenced her to run for that office.

"There were two things that influenced me to run for PTK president, Johnson said. "First, it was that I had heard about all the great differences PTK chapter members can make in the college, community and the world. For example, the Honors in Action Project, College Project and simply being more involved in the community and college are a few of those potential differences. I knew I wanted to be a part of such an influential organization, possibly even be a leader. The second thing is actually a 'who.' Like I mentioned before, I knew I wanted to be a leader in our chapter, but I was a little unsure if I was worthy enough to run for the president position. However, Mrs. (Robin) Lowe and Mrs. (Heather) McCormick influenced me to run for president and assured me of my abilities as a leader, and I am eternally grateful to them for this."

There are also great opportunities for PTK members. PTK meetings are the last Monday of every month in the Boggs Humanities Building, classroom 110 at 12:10 p.m. The Beta Tau Sigma chapter (Tupelo) meets the first Tuesday of each month. Recruiters from various universities join these meetings often to recruit PTK students.

For more information, contact PTK advisers - Fulton Campus Upsilon Sigma: Lowe, McCormick and Jay Humphries; and the Tupelo Campus Beta Tau Sigma: Jenny Bowers, Dr. Bruce Ingram, Dr. Delena Huckle and Dr. Ira Lindsay Kinard-Jones.

Occupational Therapy sophomores participate in intraprofessional event

ICC occupational therapy student Lee Ann James is among those who participated in an annual intraprofessional seminar at the University of Mississippi Medical Center recently.

Staff Reports

ICC's Occupational Therapy program director Dee Dee Lomenick's sophomore students recently examined many facets of their chosen major at an annual seminar in the OT Department at the University of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson.

Lomenick said that her students participated with all of the OT students in the state, which included those from Holmes.

Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College has applied for a program, Lomenick said.

Students toured the facilities at UMMC as well as gathered information and knowledge on such subjects as research, curriculum and licensure law.

Lomenick said that ICC's students paired with other students to work on case scenarios, after which they came back together to review during a session where questions were answered in the presentation.

The Aug. 22 event was from 1-4 p.m.

"It was a great learning experience for all," Lomenick said, "and we are hoping this will be an annual educational event."

ICC to celebrate Adult Education Literacy Week

Staff Reports

Along with the rest of the nation, Itawamba Community College will celebrate National Adult Education and Family Literacy Week, Sept. 22-28.

The week is designed to raise public awareness about the need for and value of adult education and family literacy, said ICC adult education coordinator Julia Houston.

An initiative of the National Coalition for Literacy, National Adult Education and Family Literacy Week is focusing on ensuring that the 2020 Census includes a complete and accurate count of adults with low literacy skills and their families.

ICC's adult education program enables students who are at least 16 years of age or older to have a second chance at completing a high school equivalency diploma through classes offered in all of the college's district, including Chickasaw, Itawamba, Lee, Monroe and Pontotoc counties. ACT WorkKeys preparation and score improvement, as well as work readiness skills, are also offered. Reading, math and writing refresher skills area also offered to individuals seeking to improve their employability or educational skills, even if they already hold a high school credential. ICC also offers English as a Second Language classes to help non-native English speakers build and improve their reading, speaking, listening and writing skills as well as United States Citizenship skills, which may be included.

"I appreciate being able to come to the WIN Center in Pontotoc to finish up my studies because it's close to home," said Wanda Byars of Troy. "I only have math left to finish. The GED classes are very good and on point. At my age, I may not be going back to work, but the number one priority on my bucket list is to earn my GED. I will be 65 in December."

To Joey Hill of Fulton, a student at the Fulton Family Resource Center, "adult education means that second chances really do exist. It has flipped my world right side up. It gave me a sense of belonging."

ICC served more than 800 individuals in adult education last year, Houston said.

Persons interested in enrolling in classes must be out of school and at least 16 years of age or older.

Community colleges were ranked according to three dimensions: cost and financing, education outcomes and career outcomes. ICC earned an overall score of 63.09 out of 100 and ranked 159 in cost and financing, 75 in education outcomes and 156 in career outcomes.

To compare, another regional Mississippi college, Northeast Mississippi Community College, ranked 305 on the list with a total score of 54,25 out of 100 points and ranking of 271 in cost and financing, 557 in education outcomes and 269 in career outcomes.

The importance of community colleges for workforce training was something current GOP gubernatorial candidate Tate Reeves outlined in a workforce development plan proposing $75 million be invested in community colleges. In a previous Daily Journal article, Reeves commented on working out plans for how the $75 million would be spent to modernize workforce training facilities.

"We have more work to do on exactly what that will look like. We will work with our community college partners to ensure that we're meeting the demands that they have, and that is something that we will try very hard to work with them over the next six months," Reeves said in a July 24 press conference at the Belden Conference Center of Itawamba Community College.

The study included the rankings for 12 total Mississippi schools, listed by highest to lowest community college ranking in Mississippi: Itawamba Community College, Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, pearl River community College, Meridian Community College, East Mississippi Community College, East Central Community College, Hinds Community College, Northeast Mississippi Community College, Jones County Junior College, Holmes Community College, Coahoma Community College and Mississippi Delta Community College.

ICC FALLS TO PEARL RIVER IN HOME OPENER

After a late rally to beat Pearl River last season, the ICC football team saw the Wildcats return the favor with a 35-31 victory after scoring inside 30 seconds left in the Aug. 29 game.

Pearl River scored on a 23-yard touchdown pass with 16.4 seconds left in the game to take a 35-31 advantage. The Indians quickly advanced the ball near midfield and connected on a jump ball, but the Wildcats quickly made the tackle after time had expired to pick up the come-from-behind victory.

ICC quarterback Clark Mills rolls out to pass against Pearl River.

Clark Mills (Ecru) found Qua Tucker (Dadeville, Ala.) on a 41-yard touchdown pass on the opening drive of the game, but missed the extra point. Pearl River answered with a one-yard scoring run and a successful extra point to take a 7-6 lead with 6:40 left in the first quarter.

Tucker finished the game with 134 yards and a touchdown on eight catches.

The Indians regained the lead when Memphis commit Sylvonta Oliver (Sardis) returned an interception 60 yards for a touchdown while Skylar Grissom (Fulton) added the extra point to give ICC a 13-7 lead with 2:48 left until halftime. Pearl River answered again with a 29-yard touchdown pass to sneak into the break with a 14-13 lead.

Grissom connected on one of three field goal attempts and two of three extra point attempts.

Mills found Damien Elay (Nettleton) on a 34-yard touchdown pass and hit Hiram Wadlington (Oxford) on a quick pass for the two-point conversion to take a 21-14 advantage at the 3:48 mark of the third quarter. Pearl River recovered an onside kick attempt and cashed in on the first play from scrimmage with a 46-yard scoring toss to tie the game at 21 with 3:35 left.

Grissom connected on a 32-yard field goal to give the Indians a 24-21 lead early in the fourth quarter. The Wildcats answered with a 10-yard run to retake the lead, 28-24, with 4:41 left in the final frame. The Indians answered on the ensuring drive with a 27-yard touchdown pass from Mills to Barry Flowers (Batesville) to take a 31-28 lead after Grissom's extra point before Pearl River's game-winning touchdown.

Hiram Wadlington evades an East Central defender to pick up yardage.

Mills completed 24 of 42 passing for 400 yards and three touchdowns. Wadlington rushed for 89 yards on 15 carries and hauled in three catches for 22 yards on the night.

The Indians allowed 434 yards of total offense (254 passing, 180 rushing). Peyton Rea (Madison) led the way with 11 tackles while Kenneth Martin (Columbus) added seven tackles. Oliver added six tackles to go along with the 60-yard interception return.

ICC FOOTBALL STRUGGLES IN LOSS AT EAST CENTRAL

Plagued by turnovers and untimely penalties, East Central took advantage of every Indian miscue to pick up a 34-14 win over the Indians, Sept. 5.

Clark Mills connected with Qua Davis (Biggersville) on a 23-yard touchdown pass with 4:20 left in the third quarter, and Hiram Wadlington scored on a 3-yard run in the Indians' loss.

The Indians committed three turnovers, two interceptions and a bobbled punt, which all led to points for the Warriors.

Mills finished the night with 286 yards, two interceptions and a touchdown on 27 of 54 passing attempts, while rushing for 25 yards on six carries. Barry Flowers hauled in seven passes for 101 yards.

Keshun Parker (Calhoun City), had 13 tackles (11 solo, 3 assists) with three tackles for loss and a sack for a loss of 10 yards).

Tribe TALK

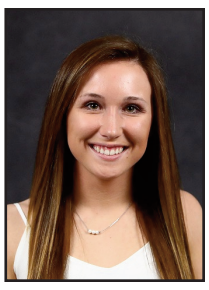

MADISON HALEY

Sports Editor

The Indians softball team ended its 2019 season making history by winning the MACJC state championship, finishing as Region 23 runner-up and advancing to the NJCAA College World Series. Since the softball team was the last of ICC's now 11 intercollegiate sports to conclude its season, and what a season it was, it set the tone for 2019-20 athletics.

So, starting in August, both the men's and women's soccer teams kicked off their season on a solid note - pun intended. Meanwhile, the football team continues to go to battle every Thursday night.

However, although winning is important, the "at home" vibe Itawamba Community College gives off is what makes our athletics like no other. The family atmosphere affects not only the campus or the classroom, but the feeling also extends to each field or court at any ICC sporting event.

Haley

The newly-adopted four-day academic week could have been a concern and a factor that would impact attendance at athletic events. With the vast majority of the students' not having class on Fridays, there was concern that attendance for Thursday night football games and Friday or Saturday afternoon soccer matches would plummet due to students' leaving campus after class on Thursday to head home. So far, I haven't noticed any drastic change to the attendance at games. If anything, students are more excited to games because they don't have class early the next morning. In my opinion, the three day weekend option really creates a nice balance between academics, student involvement and a true college experience.

ICC's student body recently took the initiative to create an official student section at Butch Lambert Stadium. The energy was already unmatched at games, but this student section has really brought the Indian spirit to Eaton Field.

If you haven't made it to an Itawamba game of any sport, you are missing out on a world-class community college experience. From the spectators, to the coaches and players, cheerleaders, our outstanding All-American Band and its directors, and to all of those working behind the scenes, including the sports information team, there is no other atmosphere I'd rather spend two years of my college life experiencing.

Each person who competes on the field or takes a seat in the stands makes up a piece of the puzzle, and ICC athletics wouldn't be complete without each piece. The representation from the student-athletes, dedication from the coaches and support from the fans truly makes ICC a standout college.

I hope you'll join me at the soccer field and football stadium this week...Roll Tribe!!
